

First Barwon Cleaning Supplies Portarlington Pro-Am a Huge Success

The first ever Barwon Cleaning Supplies Portarlington Pro-Am was held today at the magnificent Portarlington Golf Club on the Bellarine Peninsula.

The course was turned out in perfect condition with the Santa Ana couch fairways a treat to play off and the fast true putting surfaces a test for all the players. For many of the professionals it was their first visit and many commented on the quality of the condition and disappointment at having not played the course before now.

The hot scoring by two local Bellarine Peninsula players in the morning field reflected the condition of the course with both Brad Lamb and rookie professional Deyen Lawson shooting six under par 66 to set a tough bench mark for the afternoon field to catch.

"I have had a great record at this course as an amateur and it always feels comfortable to me when I come back. I played really well this morning and I hope it is good enough to get me over the line and record my first victory as a professional" said Lawson

The afternoon field which was littered with quality players was unable to match or better the feats of Lawson and Lamb however with the best score returned being from runaway Order of Merit leader Leighton Lyle who had a 68.

For Lamb it was yet another victory in what has been a great season so far which has resulted in three victories and he currently sits in 5th place on the OOM.

The next event on the Southern Tour is the Harding's Hardware Anglesea Pro-Am at the Anglesea Golf Club on Friday 9th March.
